

Hello Year 6,

I hope you are all safe, well and had a lovely week. It has been so lovely to hear how much you have enjoyed completing the lockdown SATs paper. Hope you had lots of fun. Please keep sending in photos of the fantastic work you've done and especially those crazy hairstyles. They've certainly kept me very entertained 😊

It was George's 15th birthday this week. Belle and George had a lovely day relaxing in the garden. I was at school during the day but when I got home I cooked him a special tea and we played cards in the garden until late. I've bought a fire pit so we were able to stay nice and warm. He had a lovely day even though he was in lockdown.

It's half term this week so I haven't set any work for home learning. However, here are some fun suggestions if you'd like to try:

Online coding camp

Coding school Cypher is hosting live and interactive online camps, which will engage you with computational and creative thinking through magic-themed coding projects. You can emulate Harry Potter for the week, learning how to create your own mythical creatures and mix potions electronically.

Oak Academy camp

The Oak Academy has teamed up with a range of partners from The Scouts to Jamie's Farm to provide different free fun and educational activities for children each day of half term.

Activities on offer include cook-alongs with Bite Back 2030 and Jack Deane, head chef at the Jamie Oliver Cookery School, and 'The Great Indoors' with the Scouts - showing children how to make slime, polish pennies and cook billy-can breakfast beans. Jamie's Farm will show children how to feed animals.

Gardening tutorials

If you are interested in gardening this is a live online lesson. Evergreen Garden Care has launched 'Grow with David Domoney', streaming live on Facebook every Friday at 1pm and covering everything from growing your own, attracting wildlife and building a bug hotel.

I'm certainly going to be having a go at some of these activities and definitely will be listening to celebs reading Roald Dahl. Don't forget to let me know if you try any. I will look forward to hearing what you think. Mr Peniket is going to try and create his own mythical creature ☺

Take care and please look after yourselves and your families,

Much love,

Mrs Lawson x
