FLOWER UNICORN

A unicorn is a type of mythical horse with magical properties. There are many different types, all with unique powers. This report focuses on one species, probably the strangest and rarest of all: its name - the Flower unicorn. Not much is known about this fascinating creature but scientists have travelled around the world and pulled together tiny scraps of information to support this report.

Read on and discover the once hidden world of the Flower unicorn.

APPEARANCE

All unicorns have roughly the same appearance. They all have a tail mane, body, hooves and of course, a horn. Unsurprisingly, they all have different colours which makes each species stand out. Nearly all unicorns are a silver or gold colour. Flower unicorns on the other hand, are transparent, but they don't look it. Only when they've recently eaten can you see through them. Unicorns have boring, 'normal' manes, although a few have ones with magical properties. The Flower unicorn's mane and tail has flowers woven in, and consequently have the power to keep any flower it touches from dying, even through the long, harsh winter. Flower unicorn's hooves are the only ones made of flowers and magic moulded together. Additionally, they smell of flower juices and feel springy and velvety. The horn of the Flower unicorn is made up of every colour of the rainbow in a swirling pattern.

HABITAT

Not unlike the common unicorn, the Flower unicorn prefers to live in sunny, flowery places, such as a field or wood. A Flower unicorn will settle for a dark, dank wood, for they can fill it with life with one blast of its horn. Flower unicorns mainly sleep in thick bushes, although, if you're lucky, you may see one dozing on a bed of flowers. These are usually the juveniles (young ones), for they haven't encountered the evil of humans just yet. Unfortunately, this means that the young are hunted easily. This species of unicorn can also be found in the Forbidden Forest of the grounds of Hogwarts School of Witchcraft and Wizardry, where they are heavily protected.

DIET

The Flower unicorn is unique to all other unicorns in the way it feeds. Instead of putting its head down to graze on grass, it prefers to eat fresh, luscious leaves from trees.
