Explorers - Lesson 3:

Amelia Earhart

Have you ever been in a plane?

Can you imagine being a pilot (someone who flies the plane?)

Can you imagine flying over a huge ocean?

We're going to find out about a very adventurous explorer who loved flying.....

Hello! My name is Amelia Earhart.

Do you know what I love to do?

Fly planes!

Let's take a look at Amelia's record breaking journey in 1932.

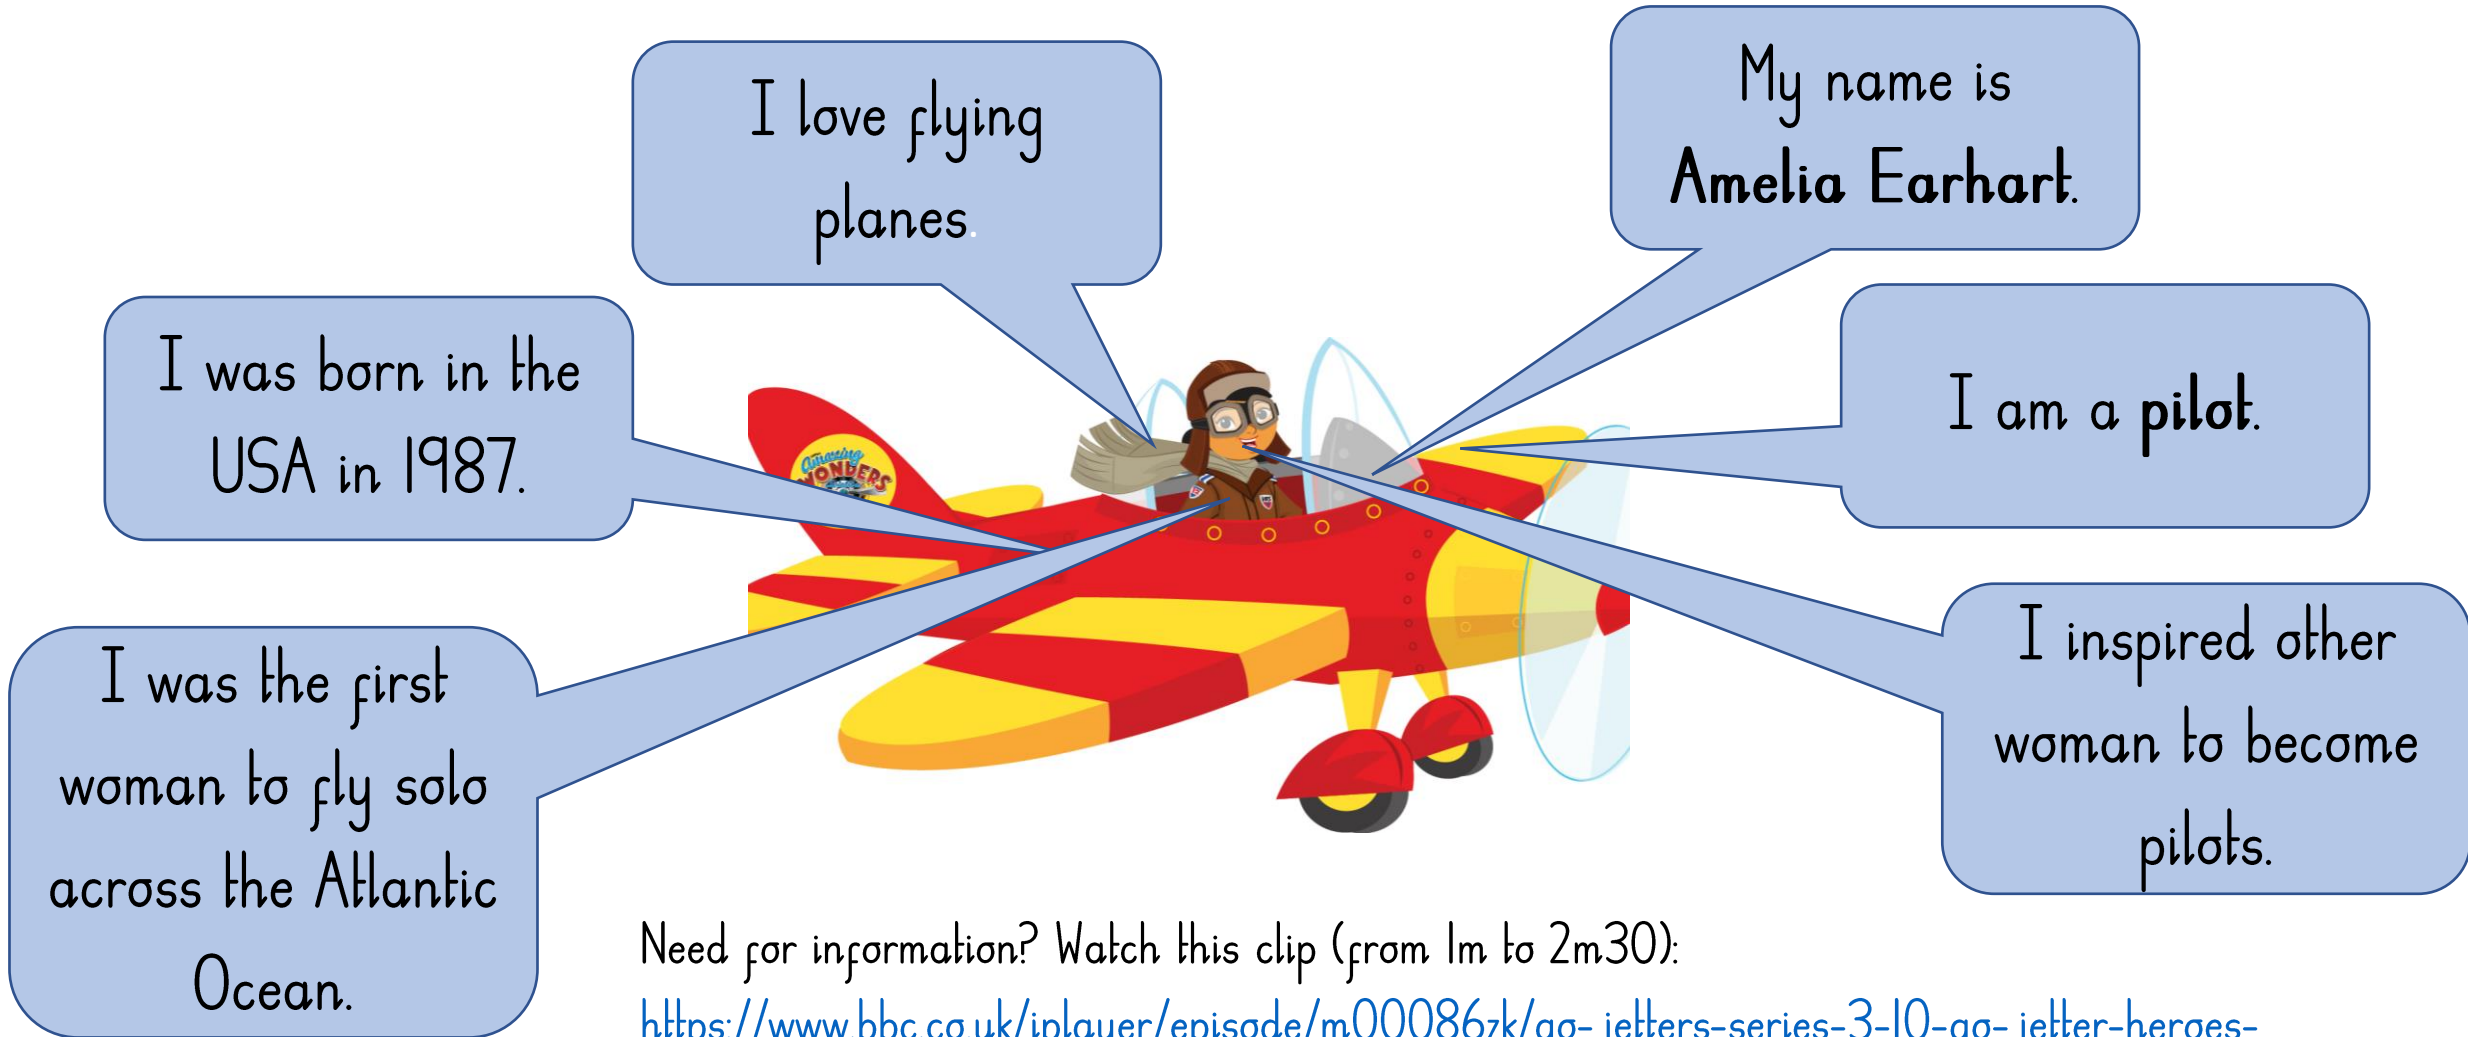

Amelia Earhart was born in Kansas in the USA.

She was the first woman to fly solo (alone) across the Atlantic Ocean.

Your task:

Draw a picture of Amelia Earhart in her plane. Write some words or phrases around the outside to show what you've learnt about her. You can use speech bubbles if you like. Here's an example:

Need for information? Watch this clip (from 1m to 2m30):

Find the Atlantic Ocean in an atlas or on a globe.
Can you find and name any other oceans? What is the sea called between England and France?
