- ✓ What is your opinion on the Sculpture?

The Lion Man information page

The sculpture was discovered in Germany in 1939 (at the start of WW2).

It is made from mammoth tusks.

It is about 31 cm tall (about the size of the rulers we use in school.)

The sculpture has the head of a cave lion but a partly human body.

The sculpture is thought to be 40,000 years old and was made in the Paleolithic Stone Age (old Stone Age).

It was discovered by an archaeologist who was investigating caves.

Task:

Create a fact page all about the Lion Man. Use my information sheet on the previous page and the video to help you 😊

You might like to draw the Lion Man or make your own version using plasticine.
