Different types of sentences

There are 4 types of sentences:

- Statement
- Question
- Command
- Exclamation

Depending on the sentence type, different punctuation is used. Today, we will be using 3 different forms of punctuation.

Full stop

Question mark

Exclamation mark

You will also be needing your capital letters too.

Statement

A statement is a sentence that simply tells the reader something.

The dog was growling.

A statement contains a subject (person, place, thing or idea) and a verb (action) and usually ends in a full stop.

The dog was growling.

subject

verb

Question

A question is a type of sentence that we ask or write to gain further information about something.

Question sentences end with a question mark.

Often, but not always, question sentences begin with one of the following words:

- Who
- What
- Where
- When
- Why
- How

How are you?
Who is that?
What is happening?

Question sentences can also begin with other words to like:

Do you have a pet?
Are you going to take your coat?

Command

A command is when you are telling someone to do something. Commands usually start with a verb. They are found in instructions but can also be urgent or angry and can be very short.

Go and brush your teeth!

Imperative (bossy) verb

Exclamation
mark

Commands can be punctuated with a full stop or exclamation mark. For example:

Please go and tidy your room.

Exclamation

An exclamation usually begins with 'what' or 'how'. It is a full sentence, including a verb, which ends in an exclamation mark.

How exciting the zoo is!

What amazing children you are!

The next few activities are based on the first few pages of the book.

Read them carefully before completing the activities.

An amazing thing once happened to me.
I was wandering in the woods when I tripped
and found myself
falling down down

When I woke up, I was in a cold, dark place.
I could see daylight in the distance and I stumbled towards it.

Outside, everything was different.
I realized I was lost. Completely lost.
So I walked and walked and walked...

Then, to my relief, I saw someone – a girl.

She was about my age, but she didn't look like any of the girls I knew.

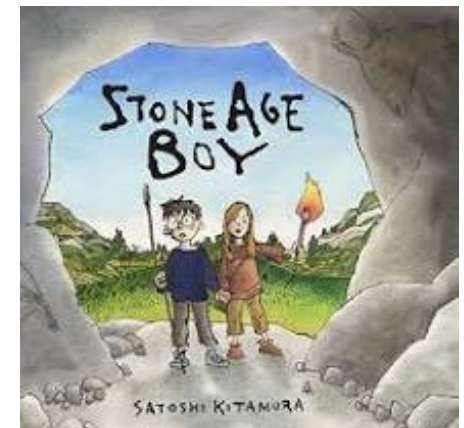

And I don't think I looked like any of the boys she knew.

Activity 1: Based on what you have just read, answer the following questions.
