

Let's Explore London!

Today we will be...

Using compass points and positional direction to navigate between London landmarks.

How many London landmarks can you remember?

Think, pair, share your ideas.

BACK

NEXT

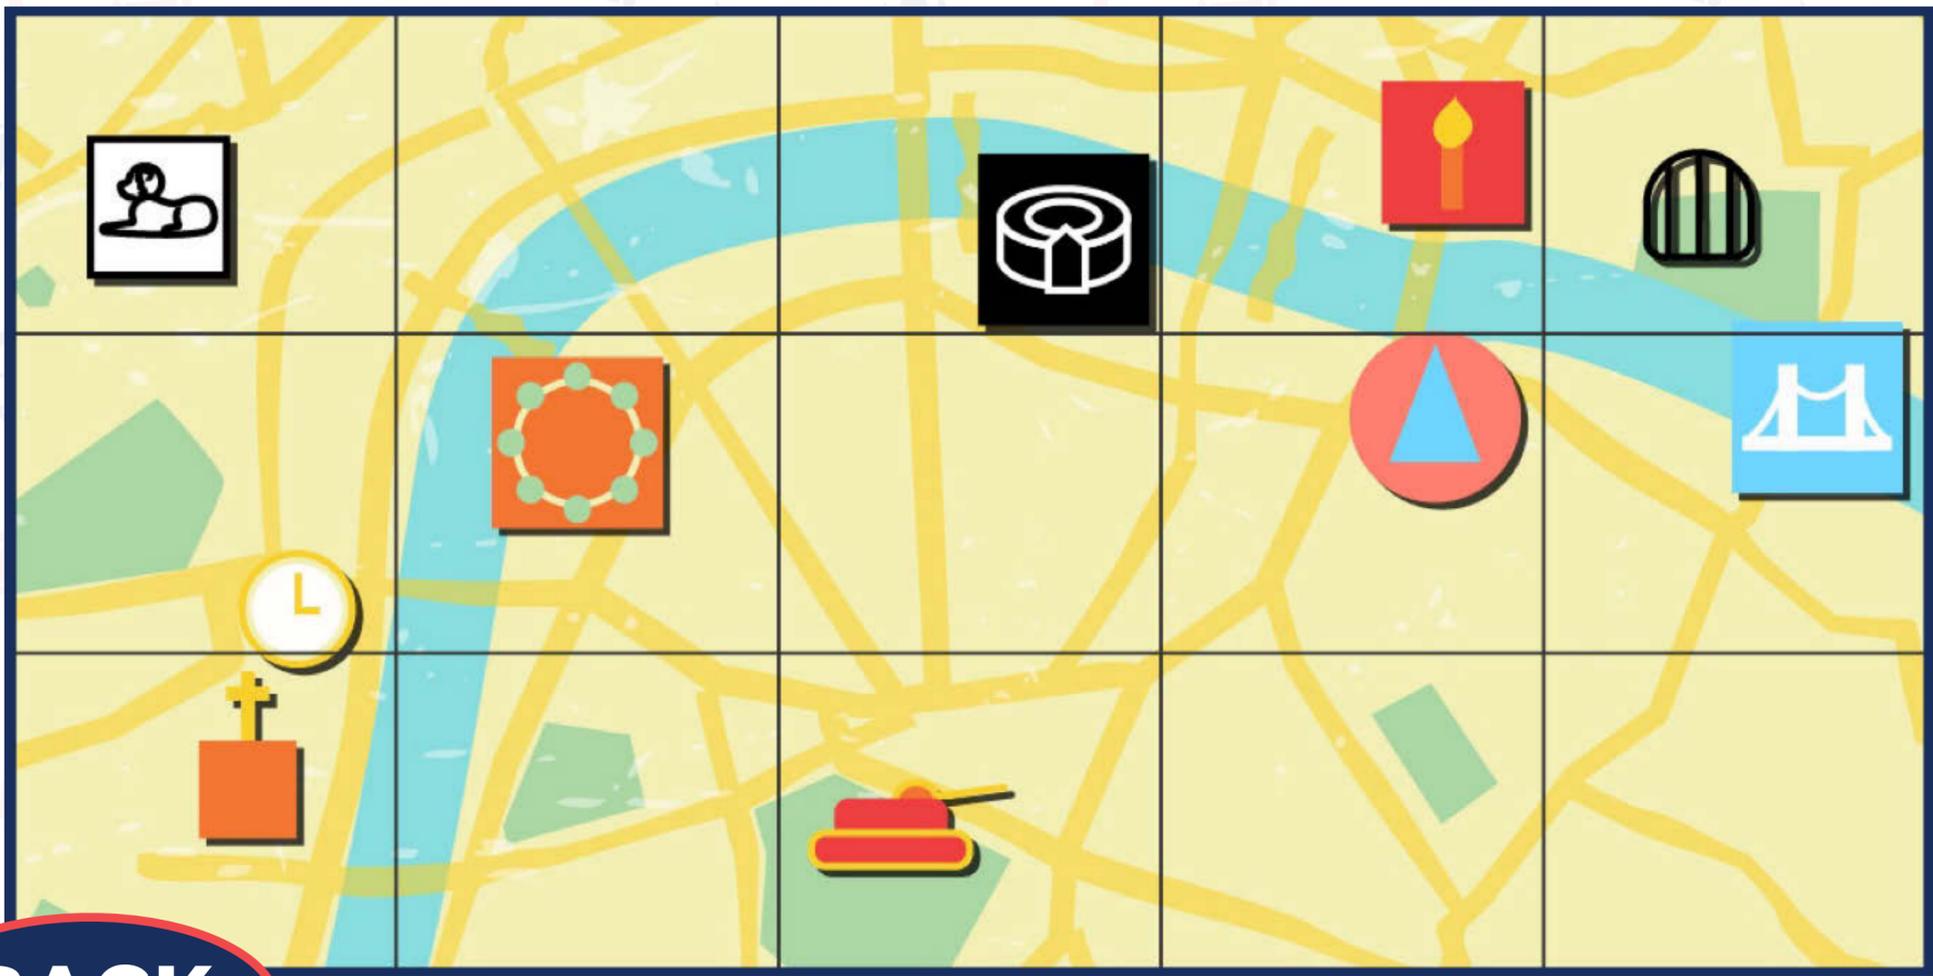

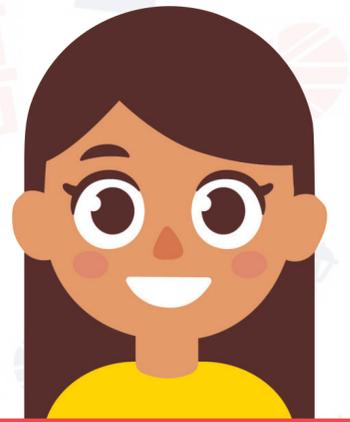

Which of the landmarks did you spot?

BACK

NEXT

Maps often use a key to make it easier to identify places.

Who can come and point to the London Eye on this section of the map?

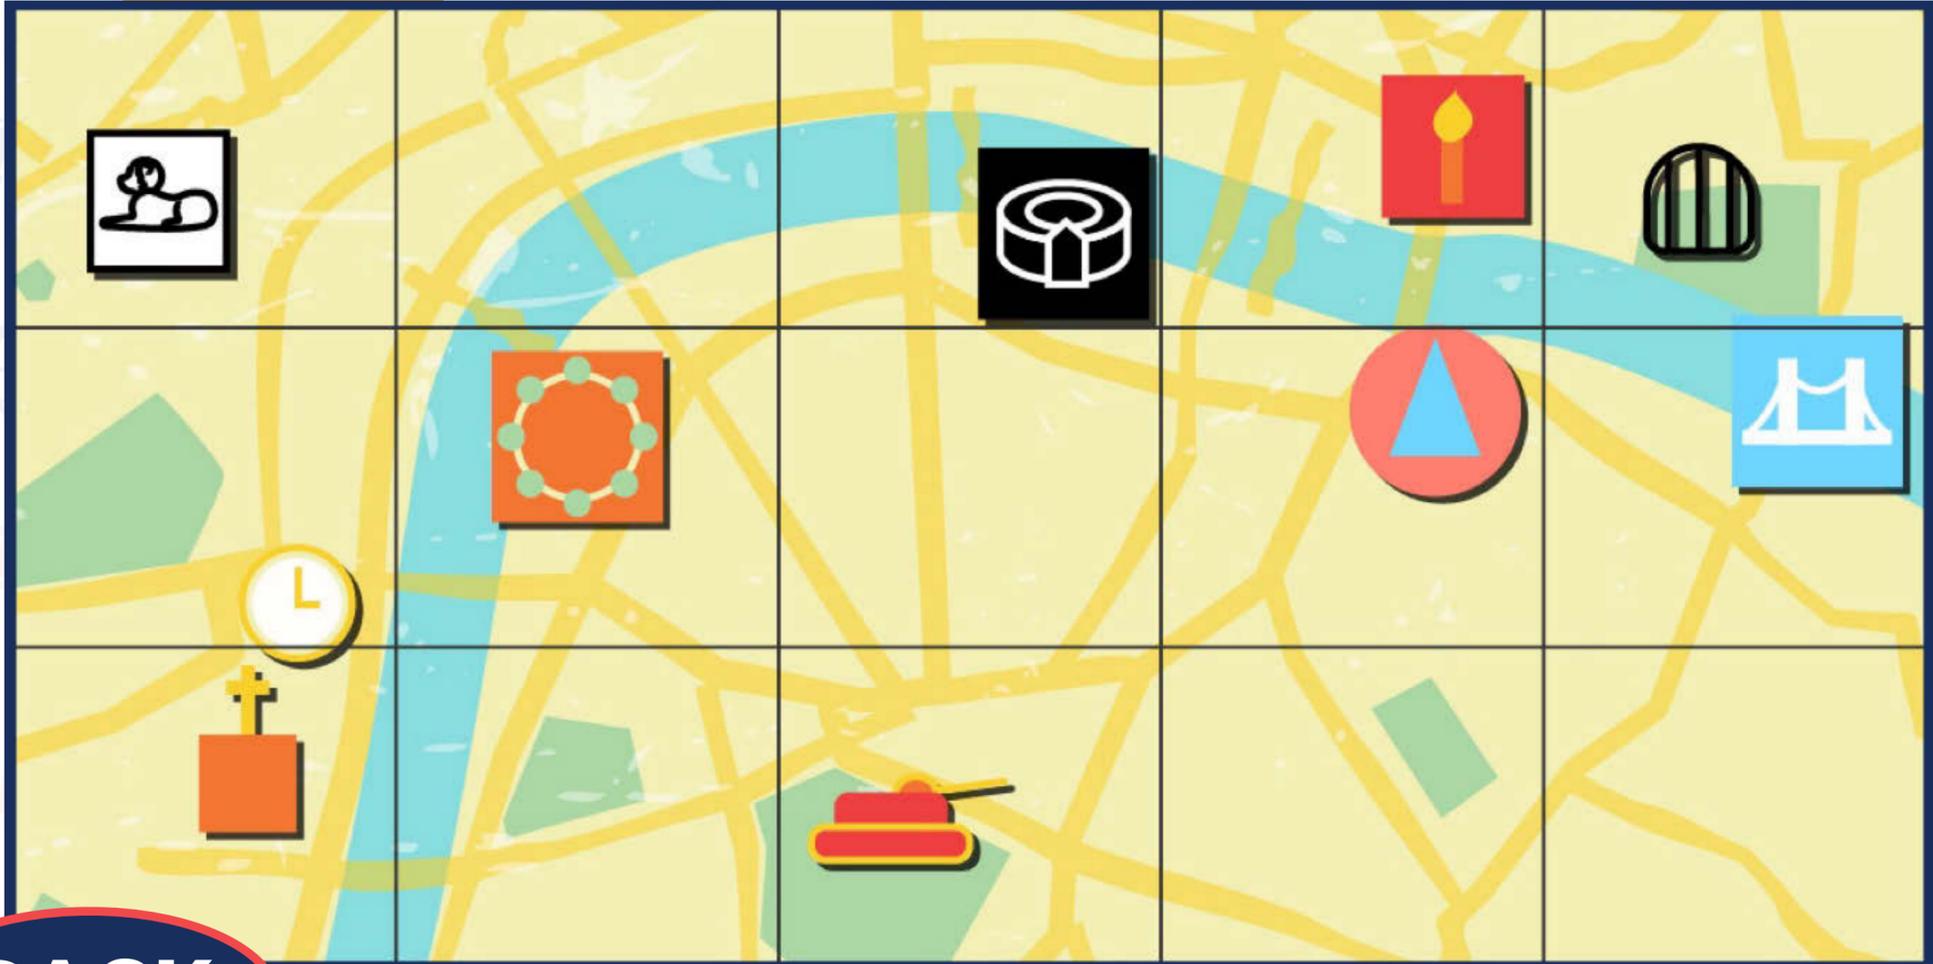

- | | |
|---|---|
|  London Eye |  Shakespeare's Globe |
|  The Shard |  Trafalgar Square |
|  Westminster Abbey |  The Monument |
|  Big Ben |  Tower of London |
|  Tower Bridge |  Imperial War Museum |

BACK

NEXT

Who can come and point to the Imperial War Museum?

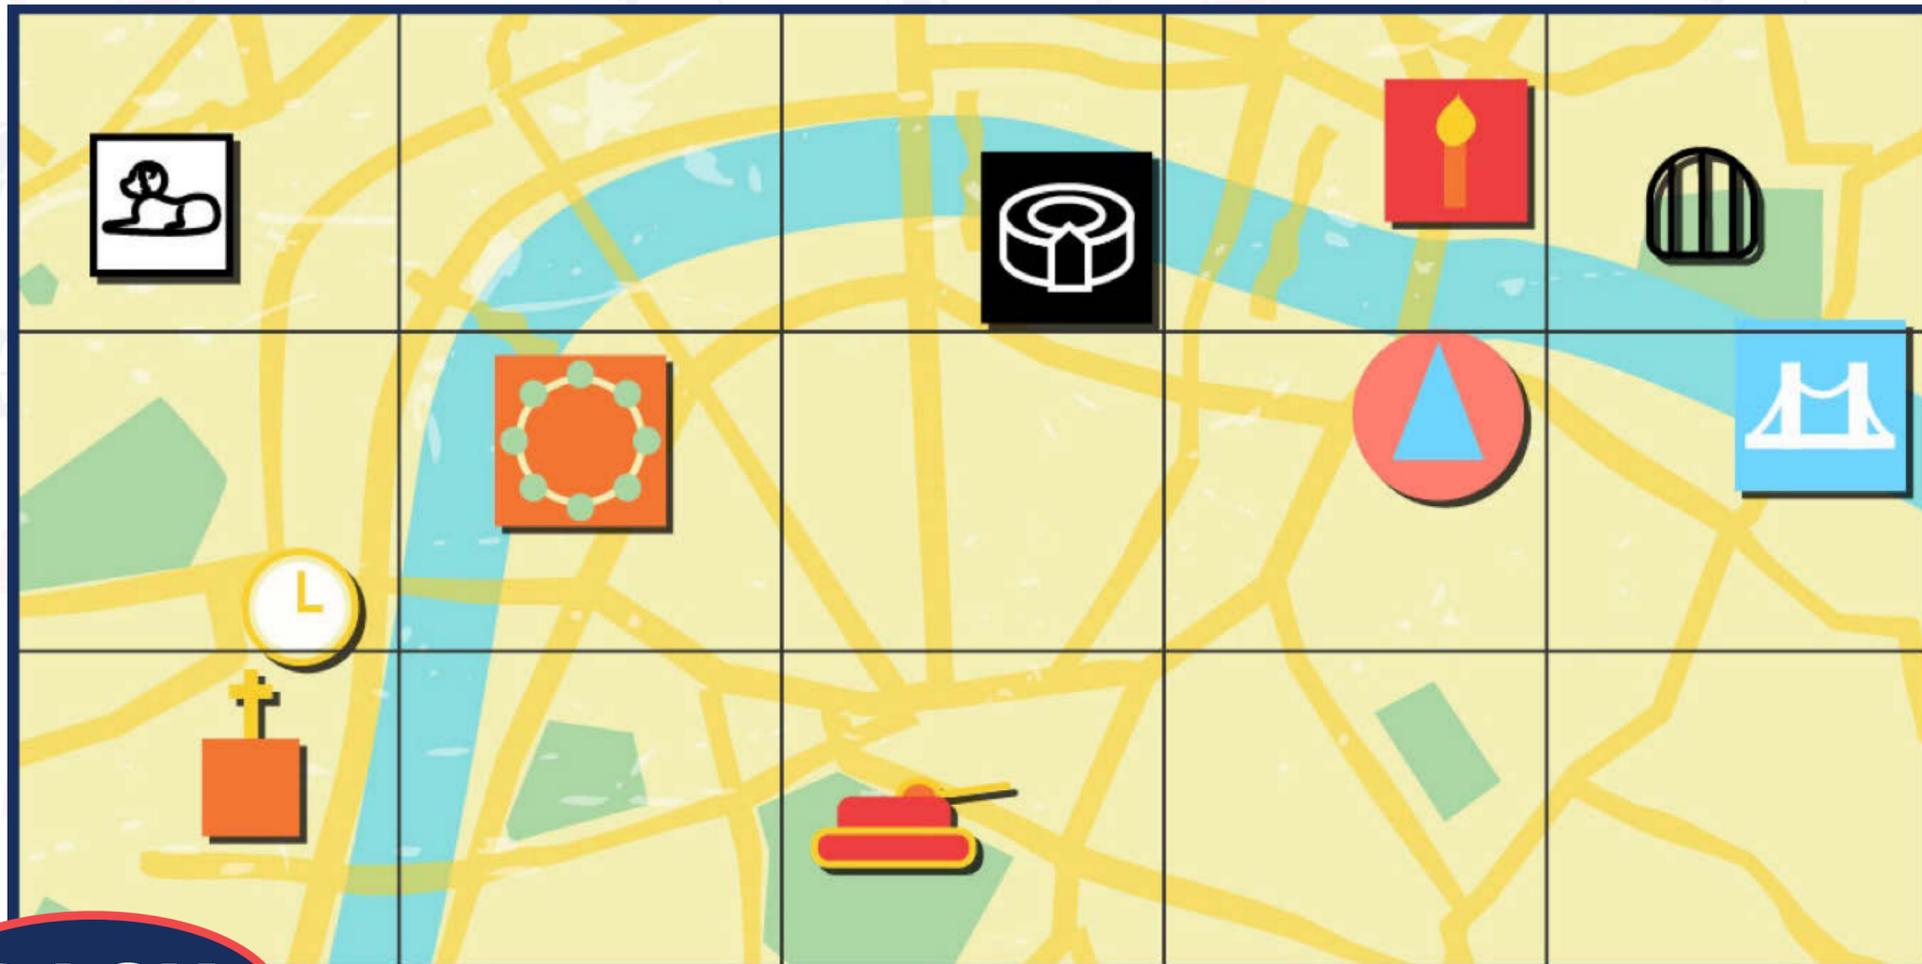

- | | |
|---|---|
|  London Eye |  Shakespeare's Globe |
|  The Shard |  Trafalgar Square |
|  Westminster Abbey |  The Monument |
|  Big Ben |  Tower of London |
|  Tower Bridge |  Imperial War Museum |

BACK

NEXT

Who can come and point to Westminster Abbey?

- | | |
|---|---|
|  London Eye |  Shakespeare's Globe |
|  The Shard |  Trafalgar Square |
|  Westminster Abbey |  The Monument |
|  Big Ben |  Tower of London |
|  Tower Bridge |  Imperial War Museum |

BACK

NEXT

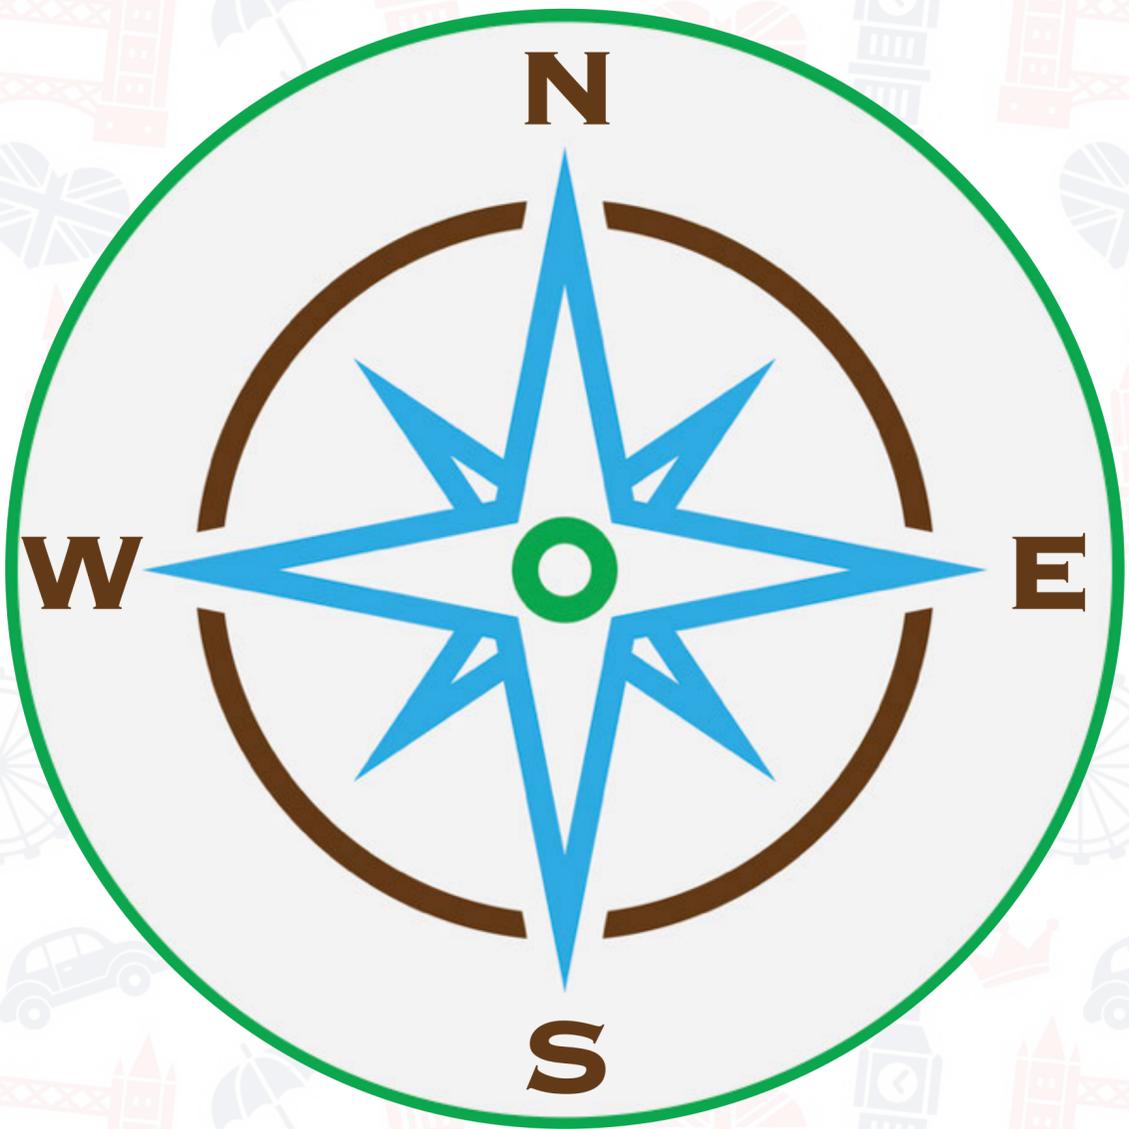

Who can come and point to Tower Bridge?

	London Eye		Shakespeare's Globe
	The Shard		Trafalgar Square
	Westminster Abbey		The Monument
	Big Ben		Tower of London
	Tower Bridge		Imperial War Museum

BACK

NEXT

Do you know what this is?

What is it used for?

BACK

NEXT

This is a compass rose. It shows four different directions: North, South, East and West. Compass roses like this one are often shown on maps to help people navigate from place to place.

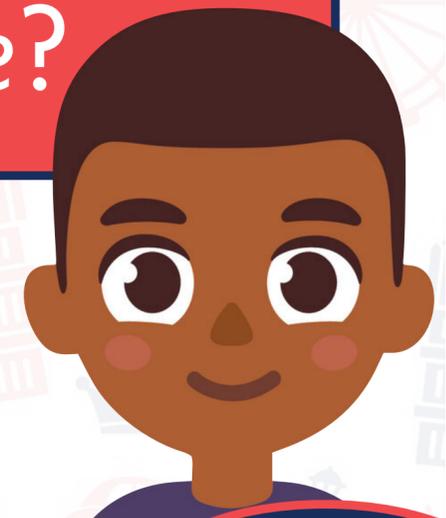

BACK

NEXT

We can use directional language, including North, South, East and West, to direct between two places on a map.

Have a look at this map of a village. Which direction would you travel on the map to get from Jamie's house to Habib's house?

BACK

NEXT

You would travel SOUTH to get from Jamie's house to Habib's house. Did you get that right?

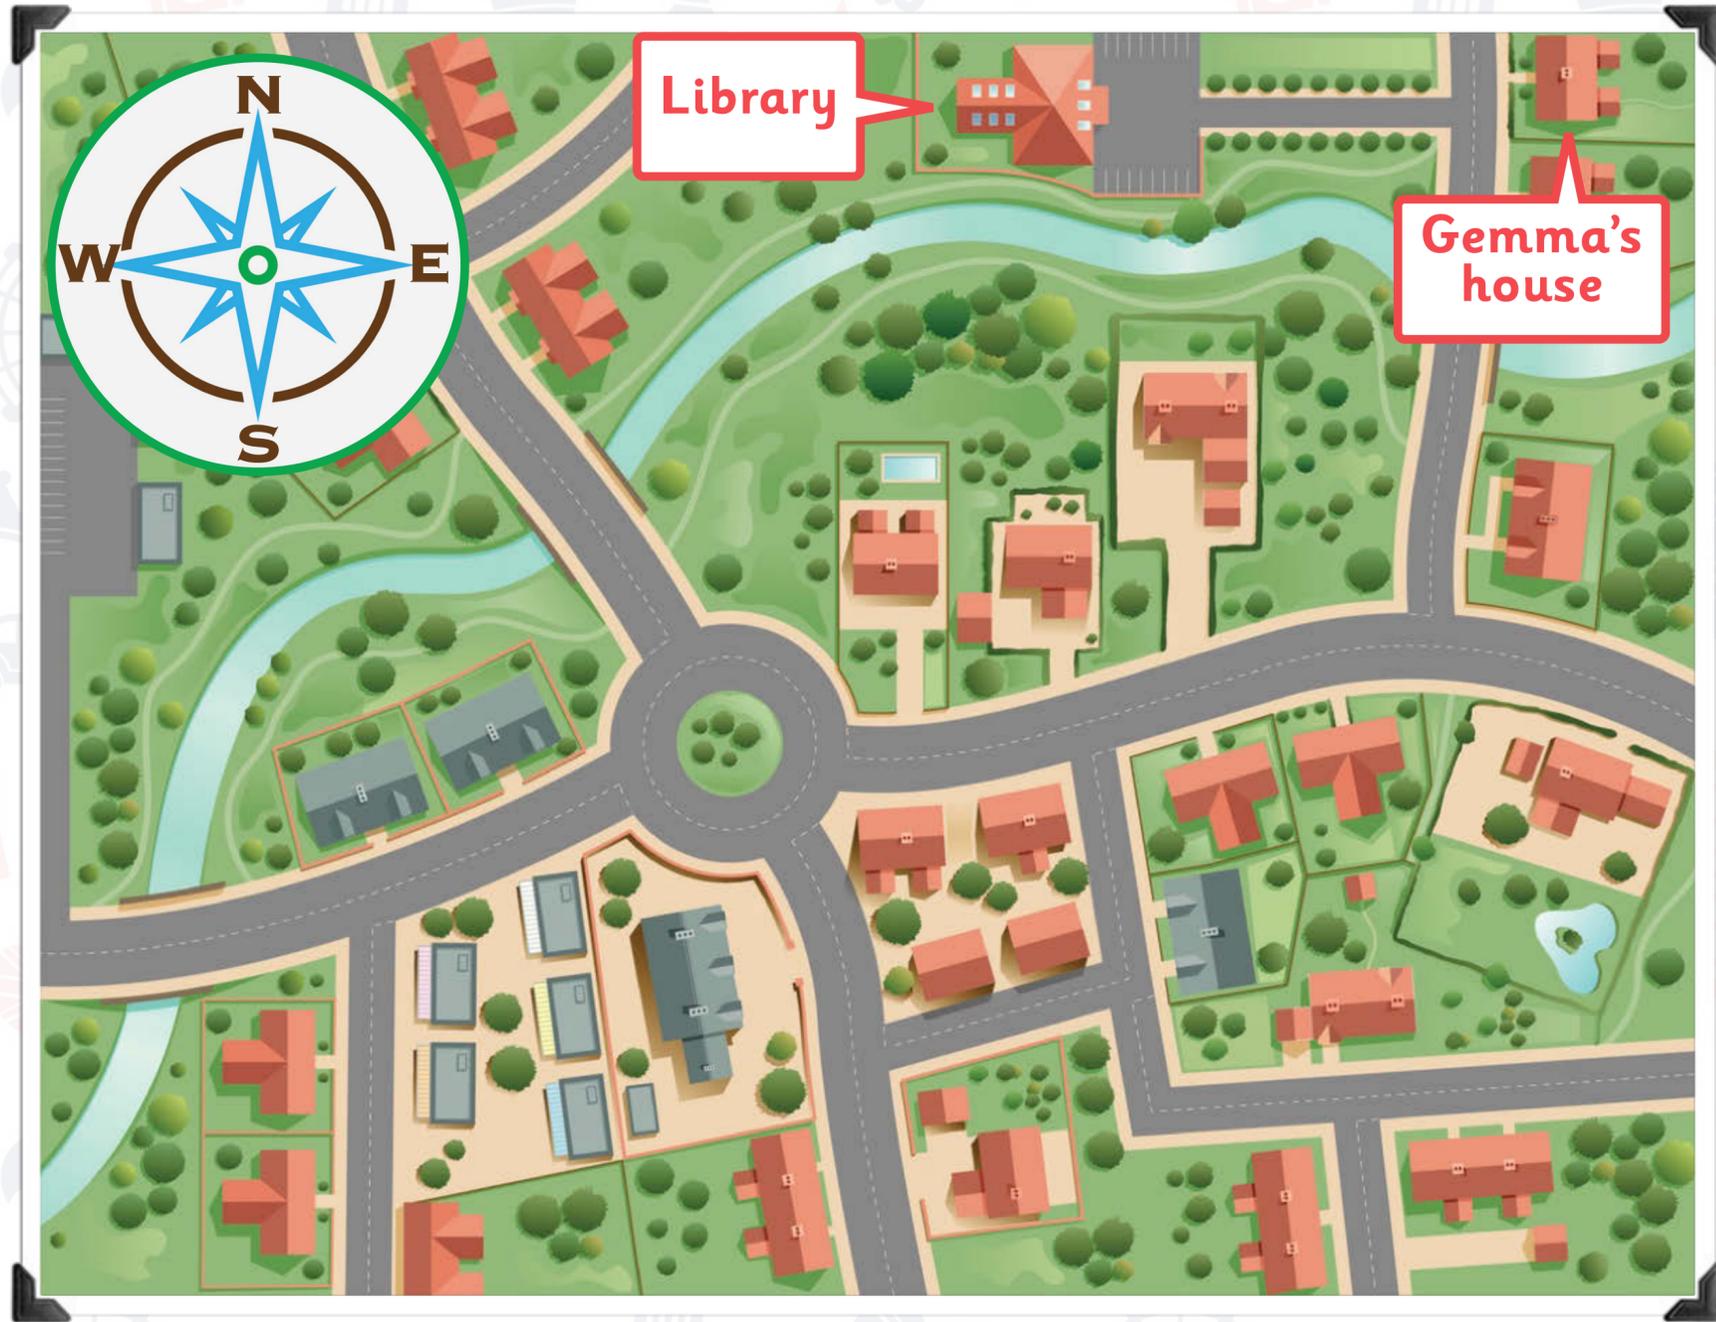

BACK

NEXT

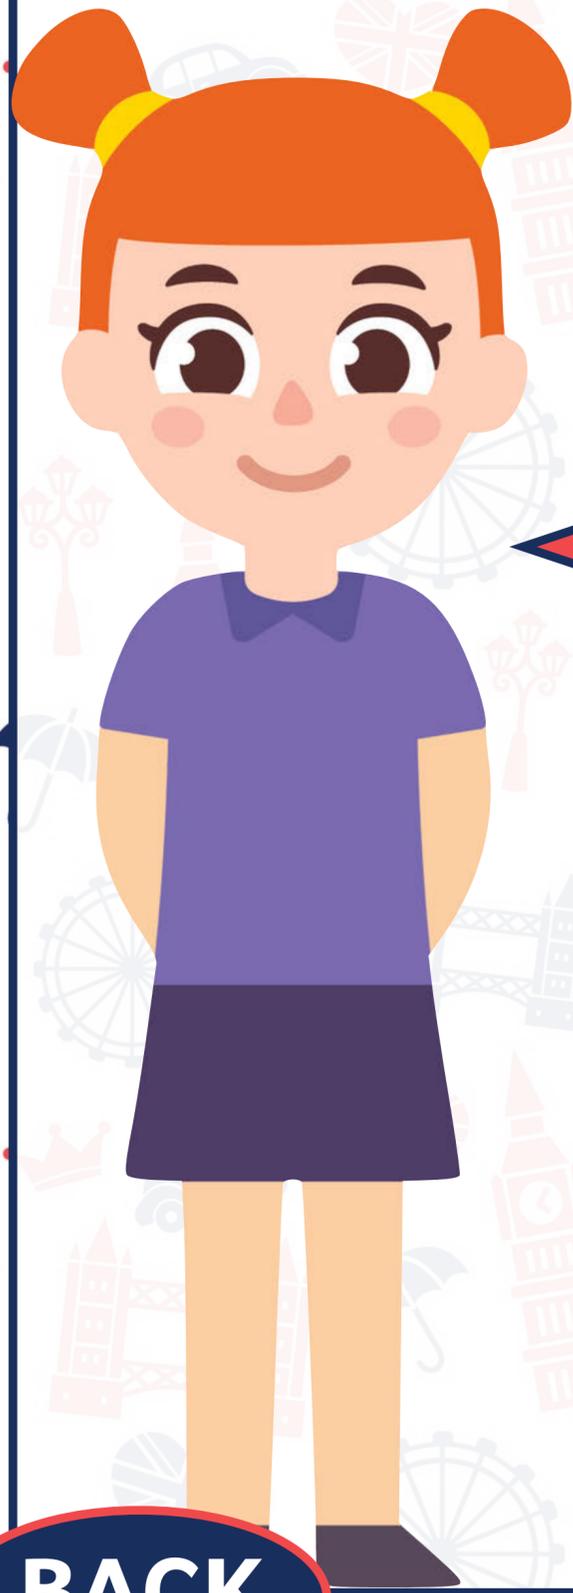

Which direction would you need to travel to get from the library to Gemma's house?

BACK

NEXT

You would travel EAST to get from the library to Gemma's house!

BACK

NEXT

Today we're going to be using compass points to navigate between London landmarks!

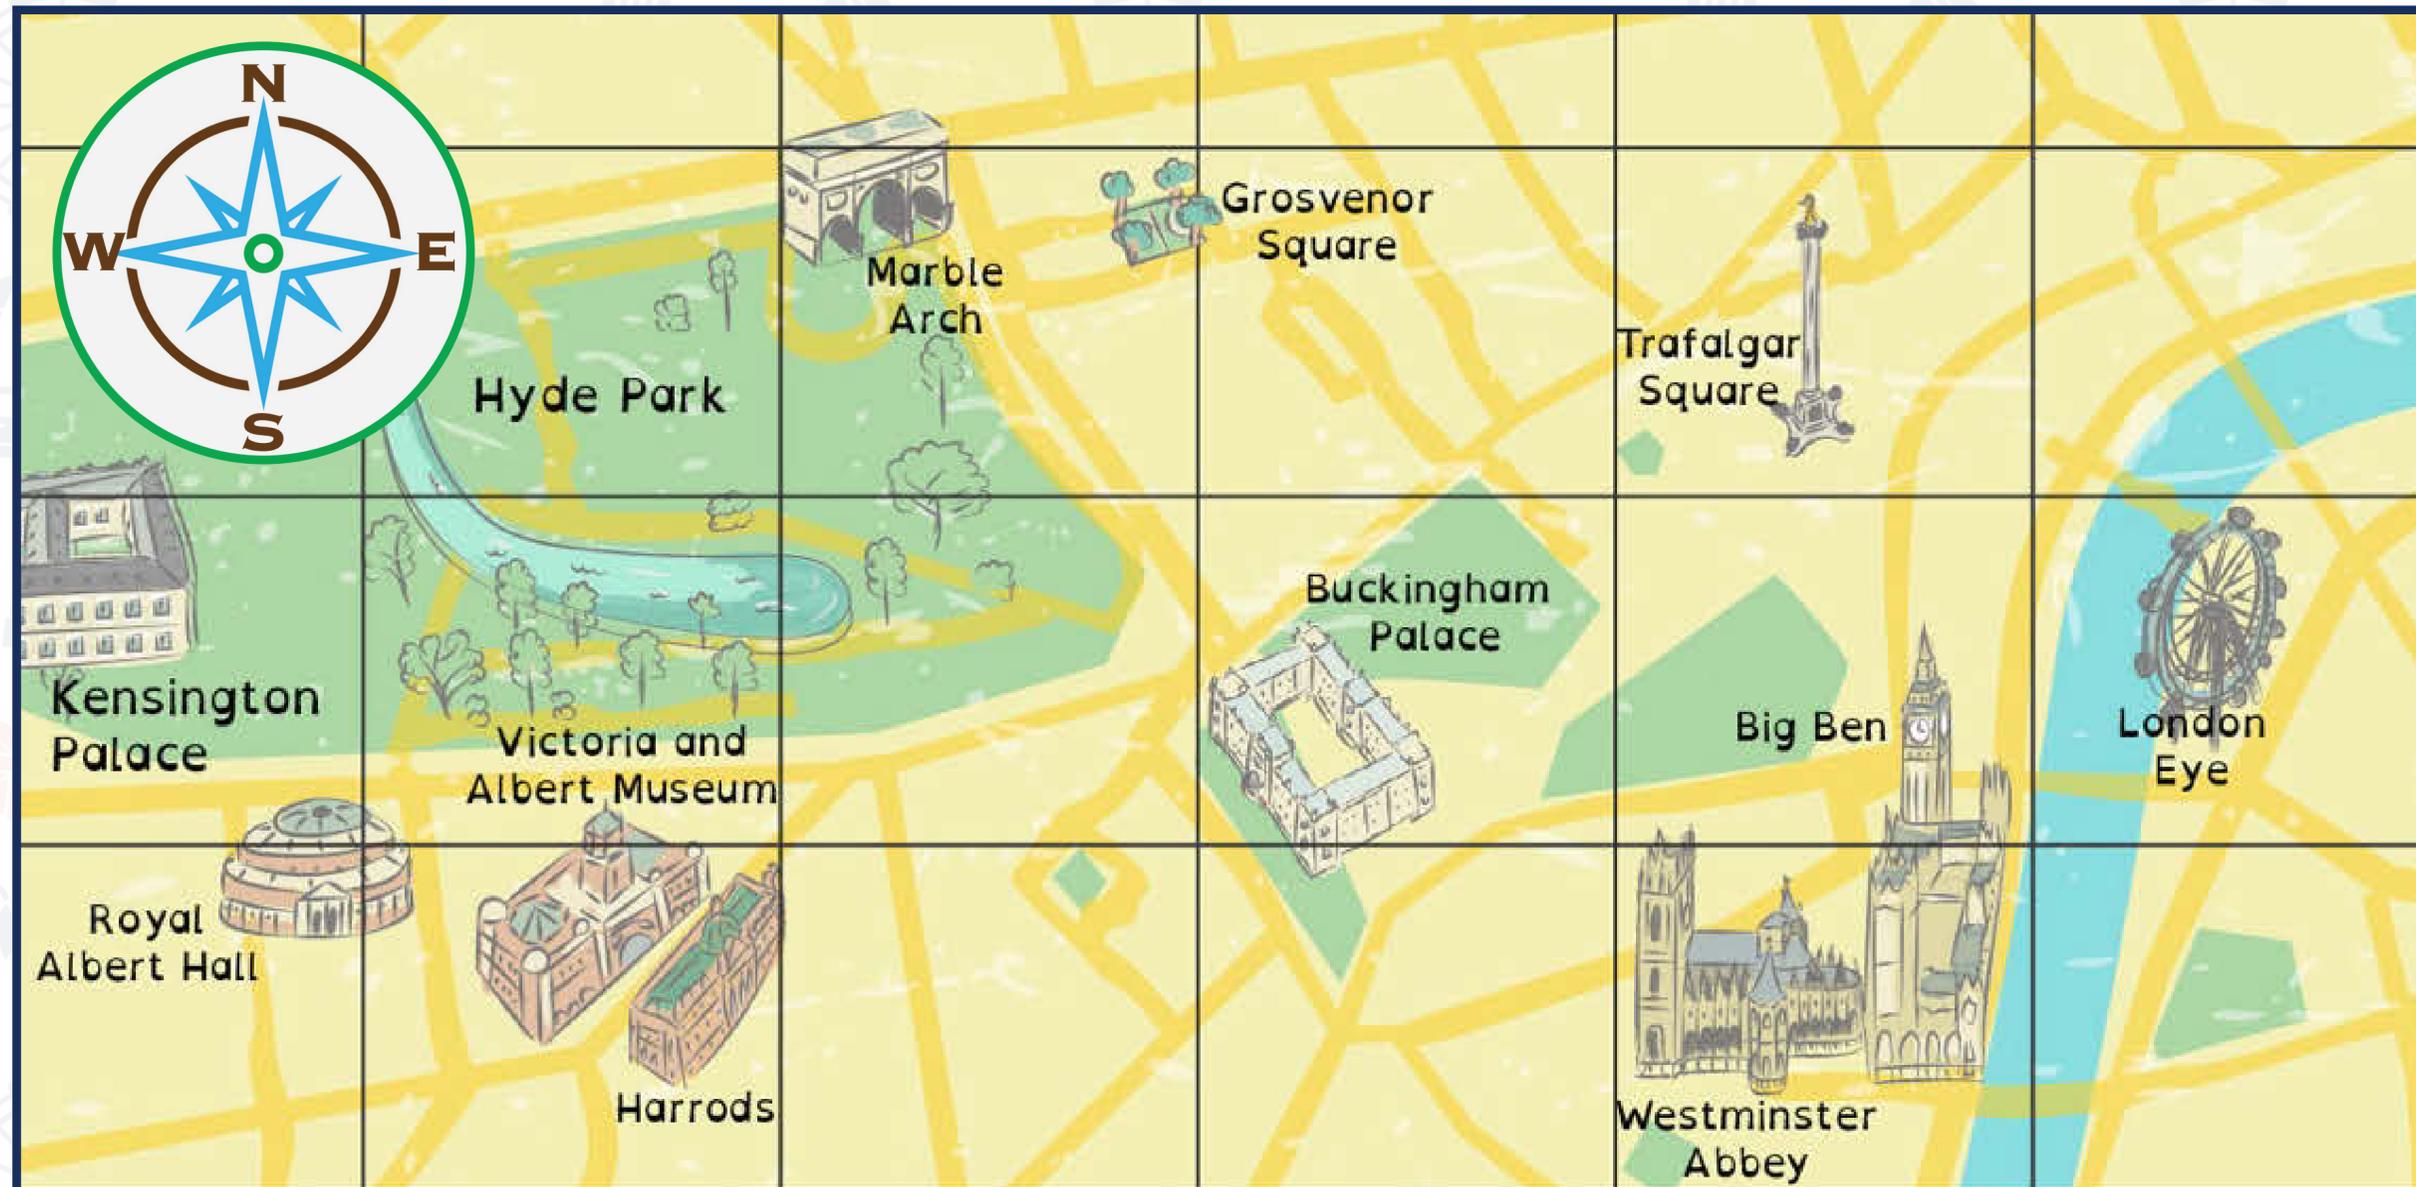

I can get from the London Eye to Trafalgar Square by travelling one square north and one square west.

BACK

NEXT

Can you describe to a partner how you can get from Westminster Abbey to Buckingham Palace?

BACK

NEXT

You can get from Westminster Abbey to Buckingham Palace by travelling one square west and one square north.

Did you find the same way? Was there any other way you could have gone?

BACK

NEXT

Can you describe to a partner how you can get from Kensington Palace to Big Ben?

BACK

NEXT

You can get from Kensington Palace to Big Ben by travelling four squares east.

Did you find the same way? Was there any other way you could have gone?

BACK

NEXT

Can you describe to a partner how you can get from Marble Arch to the London Eye?

BACK

NEXT

You can get from Marble Arch to the London Eye by travelling one square south and three squares east.

Did you find the same way? Was there any other way you could have gone?

BACK

NEXT

Can you describe to a partner how you can get from Trafalgar Square to Harrods?

BACK

NEXT

You can get from Trafalgar Square to Harrods by travelling three squares west and two squares south.

Did you find the same way? Was there any other way you could have gone?

BACK

NEXT

Great work!

Are you ready to navigate around a map of London on your own?

BACK

NEXT