Fiction V Non Fiction

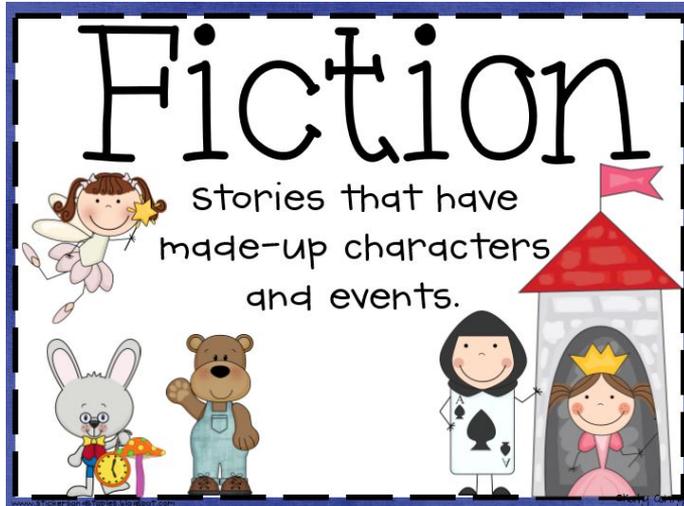

Watch the first part of today's lesson video then read through the next few pages to find out the difference between fiction texts and non fiction texts. Talk to your grown up as you learn about the features (things you find in each type of text that tells you a text is either fiction or non-fiction) of each type of text.

Learn Screen

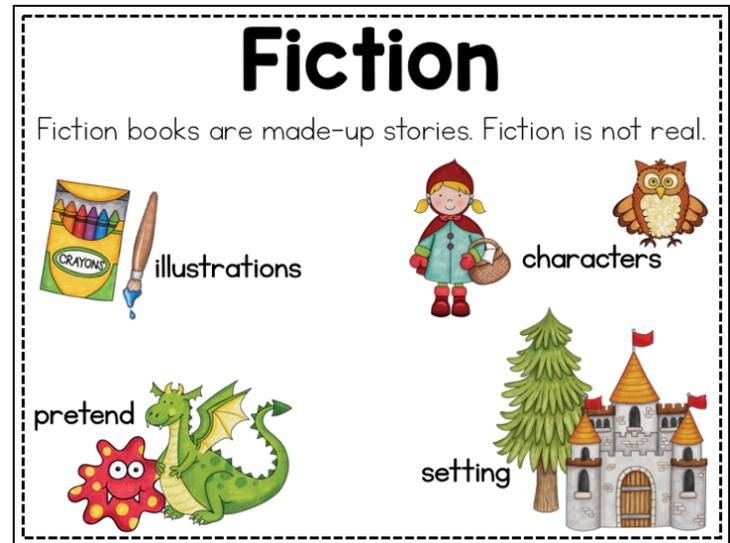

Fiction v Non Fiction

Fiction writing will include character, a plot and a setting. There will often be a problem for the character to solve e.g. Tomas keeping the dragons a secret. Fiction books may have chapters.

Fiction

This type of writing is: made up; it is not real; it is based on the writers imagination. Stories are fiction. Fiction is written to entertain the reader.

Learn Screen

Fiction v Non Fiction

Nonfiction

REAL books that tell, inform, teach, and explain.

Title
Chapter 1	1
Chapter 2	5
Chapter 3	11
Chapter 4	15
Chapter 5	19

Non fiction

This type of writing is: about fact; it's about real events; it gives information or explains ideas. Non – fiction texts are written to inform or persuade the reader.

Non fiction writing has many features that are designed to help us understand what the text is about. They help us make sense of what we are reading.

More about Non Fiction Texts

We can recognise a non-fiction text by the way it is set out. A non-fiction text will use different features to help the reader understand.

Watch the lesson video to see examples of these different features before completing the next task.

If you have any non-fiction texts at home, have a look at them to see if you can find any of the features we look at. You probably won't find them all in one text!

All about Non-Fiction

Activity 3: Recognise the key features of fiction and non fiction text.

Story Talk (Make Believe)	Fact Talk (True Information)
<ul style="list-style-type: none">* Read to ENJOY* Must read in order* Can have a theme, moral or lesson for the reader to learn* Doesn't always give the reader information directly (must infer/draw conclusions)* Not based on true events* Uses literary elements: plot, setting, theme, characterization, point of view, conflict	<ul style="list-style-type: none">* Read to LEARN* Can read in almost any order* Can inform the reader or teach "How to" do something* The information is usually given directly to the reader* Based on real events/ information* Uses text features: Table of contents, index, charts, glossary, graphs, lists, pictures, illustrations, diagrams, captions, timelines, labels, bold/italicized words, etc.
Purpose: Entertain	Purpose: Inform

Your task is to sort the features of the two different types of text we have looked at today.

Use the chart and list of features on the next two page to help you. You don't need to print anything, you can complete this task on paper.

Fiction vs Non-Fiction

Do these text features belong to Fiction or Non-Fiction texts? Cut, sort and stick them into the chart.

Fiction	Non-Fiction

glossary	not real	characters	photographs
beginning, middle, end	index page	animals can talk	problems and solution
facts	setting	contents page	should be read in order
headings and sub-headings	does not need to be read in order	labels	gives information
tells a story	illustrations	read for fun	diagram

Well done Year 2. I can't wait to see your work.
